AMMOR Architecture

project Four-bedroom triplex.

standout Through a gut renovation that rationalized the circulation and layout of the three-level apartment, architects Gail Amornvivat and Thomas Morbitzer not only found space for two more bedrooms but also created a light and airy family home featuring rift-sawn oak built-ins—including ample storage, desking, and an open-tread stair—and a primary bedroom suite with its own terrace. ➤
